APARTMENT HOUSE EARLY PROSPECT

AYERITT BROS. PLANNING MODERN STRUCTURE FOR SAVANNAH AVENUE.

That Statesboro is soon to have a modern apartment building is permitted to be announced.

Ayeritt Bros., the Chevrolet dealers, have under consideration the erection during the present summer of a structure on Savannah avenue near the intersection of Zetterover street, which will be an ornament to the city as well as a convenience long desired.

The full details as to the style and size of the building have not been announced. It is agreed, however, that the structure will be modern in every way and will comprise six or eight apartments of medium size to rent at moderate rates, and to carry every convenience to be found in city apartments. This will include complete sanitation and heating systems with separate entrances and private yards.

Until the plans are fully matured, no definite announcement as to size and cost of the building can be given out. It is intended, however, to build apartments of five or six rooms which may be rented at from $35 to $50 per month with heat and water included.

There are a great many traveling men whose families reside in Statesboro at present. They are desirable acquisitions to Statesboro's social and commercial life. Still others are anxious to come here if suitable accommodations can be procured. A small apartment house will meet this requirement exactly.

Any person interested in the proposition may assist in bringing it to fruition by a discussion with the Ayeritt brothers.

Those from here who attended the funeral of Leslie Dekle at Metter on last Thursday were: Mrs. F. I. Wilcox, Mrs. Joe Tillman, Mrs. W. H. DeLoach, Mrs. W. H. Goff, Mr. Crumpton, Mrs. M. W. Akins, Mrs. Bruce Akins, Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mrs. G. W. Clark, D. R. Dekle and others.

COUNTY SCHOOLS

Our school system has been top heavy at the bottom. Far too many pupils never go to school enough to get beyond the lower grades. In almost every one of our schools, the first two or three grades have two or three times as many students as are in the more advanced grammar grades. Only a small percent of those who enter ever reach the high school department. Far more than the girl students enter high school than the boys. Bulloch county's average for boys in high school is considerably below the average for the state. Only approximately 30 per cent of our high school graduates are boys, while the average for the state is 45 per cent.
In school age in this county we have more boys than girls.

The citizens of the West Side will vote a local tax in a short time. They contemplate having ready the new building by time for school to open this fall. Should they go ahead as rapidly as they can, they will be able to have the 1929-30 term of school in the new building in the last and one of the largest consolidations in the county.

The county board of education has ruled that in the future no form of transportation will be borne by the county board that is not in a regular consolidation and which is jointly borne by the districts and the county board. Those who live in sections not embraced in one of our consolidations should do what is necessary to get into a consolidation before time for school to open this fall. There is no reason why any section or any citizen should be granted special favors. It is just as easy and sensible and just as expedient that every man, section and citizen bear the burden of cost of education as is done by those in the existing consolidations. Don't whine because you are being cut off from the transportation fee. Do the sensible thing—do like your neighbors have done—become a part of an existing consolidation, help pay your part of the cost, and then you will fare exactly like those who have complied with this state law. We have never had any trouble with any citizen who has shown a willingness to play the game fair. Those who seek special advantages or special favors are the only ones who give us worry.

We wish to urge all who are concerned, to go to the school houses at the time designated to elect trustees to serve for the next three years. Do not forget the date—June 20th from one to two o'clock p. m. Be sure to report the result of your election at once to this office so that your commissions may be issued and you may qualify for service by the 30th of June.

Teachers who have been in service who have not yet obtained normal diplomas, should not fail to go to the summer school this summer and work off as much as is possible of your normal work which is required. We have many excellent teachers who lack a few hours of having the required credits to justify the issuance of normal diplomas. It will not be long before every teacher who teaches in this county must have at least a normal diploma or be a graduate of a junior college.

We do not know what plans to make with reference to our trucking proposition for the school year of 1929-30 because we cannot know what to expect from the state until after the general assembly does something to insure relief from the present deplorable state we have been placed in by the state's failure to pay us the money that has been appropriated to our schools. Unless we be given funds with which to pay past due appropriations and a liberal allowance for next year's needs, we will be so seriously handicapped that the most we shall be able to do will be but little. Might be a good idea to go slowly with the matter of contracting transportation for next term.
Should we become able, it seems the part of wisdom to place county owned trucks for at least fifty per cent. of the transportation needs.

COUNTY AGENT

The State Bureau of Markets has announced that federal-state inspection on watermelons will be furnished all growers who desire this service the coming season. The cost to shippers will be $2.00 per car. It is my opinion that this will be a very valuable service to watermelon growers, and they should take advantage of it.
It means that when a car of melons has been inspected and a certificate of inspection issued, there is no chance for the buyer on the other end to claim that the melons are not what he bought. It will enable the farmer to make wire sales and know that he is shipping a car of melons that are free from disease and of good quality. It is necessary for the bureau of markets to know the approximate number of cars that they will be expected to inspect, so I am going to ask all melon growers who want this service to give me the approximate number of cars they will want inspected. Please let me have this information as early as possible.

No more poultry cars will be operated until next fall. The weather is too hot through the summer to load poultry in cars, and for this reason it is difficult to get attractive bids. Cars will be run next fall and spring. We want to begin planning now to load a solid car of early broilers to load poultry in cars, and for this reason the middle of March. The chicks will have to be hatched the latter part of December and the first of January. Let's see if we can't put this over.

I want to urge farmers not to sell your feeder pigs. The prospects are now that we will make a good feed crop this fall and that hogs will bring very good prices. I am having a good many inquiries from other sections for feeder pigs, which indicates that they are scarce. By all means keep the pigs growing and get them in on an early crop of corn, beans, etc., as early as possible. Remember that we will begin holding co-operative sales in September, and they will continue throughout the winter. Let me again urge you to hold your pigs.
E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

HIGH SPEED WITH CURTISS DEVICE

HUDSON MAKES MIAMI TO NEW YORK RUN IN LESS THAN FORTY HOURS.

Delayed three hours by storms in Virginia, Glenn H. Curtiss wired ahead to Washington, D. C., asking for a collision course through the city to enable him to make up some time lost on the Miami to New York test run of the famed aviator's newly designed Aerocar. The escort was provided but, arriving after dark and traveling at high speed, the Greater Hudson powered touring unit flashed by the waiting motorcycle men before they were aware of its approach.
By the time the officers had their machines in motion the Curtiss car, towed by the Hudson, was two blocks ahead and they put out their best speed, the police were unable to overtake it before it passed the city limits and the carefully planned escort became a laughable pursuit by to amazed officers.

This test was the final stage of experimentation by Mr. Curtiss of the vehicle which this noted aeronautic engineer has been developing over a period of years. The idea back of the invention of the Aerocar was to produce a living quarters coach for use with single seater automobiles which would have sufficient strength for severe duty and which would at-ford maximum riding comfort. The coupler consists of an inflated aircorplane tire mounted on an aeroplane wheel and imbedded in a wooden socket which bolts into the rear compartment of the automobile. A triangular steel member attaches to the hub of this wheel and supports the Aerocar body. All up and down and sidewise motion is taken up by the tire, and the car literally rides on air.

Mr. Curtiss put the finishing touches to the vehicle while in Miami and only an extended road trip at high speed remained necessary to confirm its practicability in service. Ability for high speed constantly maintained over long periods of time had already been determined for the inventor's personal car, a Hudson couple, and this car was used for making the test run.

Accompanied by Miami city officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives who were interested in the development of the Coastal highway, and with a relief driver, Mr. Curtiss left the Florida city at 6:00 p. m.
Sunday, April 7, and arrived at the New York City Northern Terminal at seven minutes past nine the following Tuesday morning. The trip of approximately 1,465 miles took 39 hours and seven minutes. Besides the three hours lost in Virginia storms, there were 35 minutes lost in the Carolinas.
Had no time been lost and the same speed maintained, a record for single car travel would no doubt have been set.

Among the uses of the Aerocar which the public has discovered and which were not contemplated by Mr.
Curtiss when he was designing it are its utility for passenger limousines between flying fields and municipal centers; as commercial cars for salesmen who display samples; as mobile salesrooms for grocers and others selling from house to house; as buses and as service cars for numerous types of repair businesses. The remarkable riding-on-air quality of the Aerocar opened up a wide market with automobile owners who were not at first considered probable prospects for its sales. Touring models were equipped with carpeted passenger compartments furnished with table and chairs and with linoleum floored lavatory and kitchenette compartments, outfitted with stove, refrigerator, large capacity water tank, wash basin and toilet. Bus models are of twelve passenger capacity.

Traction experts who have inspected the Aerocar have gone so far as to say it represents something revolutionary in passenger transportation.
The Aerocar coupler is accepted by them as the perfection of trailer hook-up, the coach tracking exactly with the power car and riding with superb smoothness, all at highway speed without even at highest speed with no road irregularities are transmitted to the body.

The ceremony was performed by

Atlanta Makes Plans For July 4th Races

Atlanta, June 17.—Plans for the seventh annual July 4th Auto Races at Lakewood Park are well under way and many noted American and foreign race drivers have entered the motor speed events which will mark the afternoon program of a full day of "doings" at Atlanta's city playground.

"Come early and stay late" is the slogan for this year's Independence Day array of entertainment. In addition to the park and picnic facilities including Coney Island pleasures and boating, there will be the major program of professional auto races with a score of star race drivers in fast competition on the speedy mile track.

The auto races will take up the complete afternoon with much excitement assured. The gates will swing open in the morning and remain open until after midnight. There is also parking space for thousands of cars, ample picnic grounds for those who bring their lunches, many refreshment places for those who wish to put in an entire day at the park and a splendid night show with fireworks to round out the evening program.

The annual races at Lakewood attract thousands of Georgians to the capital city each year and the event this year, which will be "bigger and better" than ever, will likely establish a new attendance mark.

NEVILS SCHOOL P.T. A.

There will be an important call meeting of the Nevils P.T. A. at the school auditorium at 4:30 o'clock on Saturday, June 22. All patrons are urged to be there.

After ten days spent in wondering why his arms pained every time he tried to use them, Rev. Charles Mac-Farland, of Mountain Lakes, N. Y., discovered that he had fractured both of them in a fall.

United States government authorities show that under favorable conditions with a beginning of one male and one female fly, they may increase in one season to over 50,000,000,000-000 flies. This shows the need of FLY-TOX. FLY-TOX is the scientific insecticide developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Simple instructions on each bottle (blue label) for killing ALL household insects. IN-SIST on FLY-TOX with the perfume like fragrance. It is safe, stainless,

Born within hearing of the roar of the Gulf of Mexico, and wading in the shallow tributary waters, one might be justified in the assumption that there was left little to learn with reference to the crustacean inmates of those waters.

From time to time in recent years this editor has had occasion to visit again the scenes of his early youth and to learn again the things forgotten of the years long past. While thus renewing his youth, it has as frequently fallen his lot to learn some thing new and more worthwhile than the things that he had previously known and forgotten.

By some it will be recalled that following a visit to Clearwater, Fla., on the early spring he wrote authoritatively and inspiringly on that visit. It may be recalled by some that he professed to have learned the language of the oyster, supposed to be the dumbest of known life. If you who read this article, read that previous one, you recall, perhaps, that the editor was so charmed with his oysterette (that word ought to be spelled and pronounced oyster-ate) acquaintances that he brought large numbers of them home with him—inside his shirt.

Previous to that visit to Florida, the editor had met and become acquainted with a very pleasant and entertaining family of crabs at the home of his brother-in-law, Albert Nelson. It may be recalled that he wrote in this very column with considerable enthusiasm and admiration pertaining to that meeting with the crabs. If you have forgotten the things he said, let us remind you that he professed to have found out that the natural bent of the crab is not walking side-wise, as some have been inclined to think, but that it travels downward at an amazing rapid rate—a rate entirely satisfying to the inner man—after he has been properly steeped in a kettle of boiling water.

The gist of the crab article was to the effect that the crab, properly prepared, is the best eating known to man. And that statement was the absolute truth when it was written.

The more recent article pertaining to the oyster was not a contradiction of the reference to the crab, but it was rather a correction based upon later observation. The purport of it was that the oyster family far outclasses the crab if properly understood. And that truth remains without modification or correction.

This article, however, is to be a revelation of a truth that had not been known when the other two articles were written. It must refer, therefore, to something better and more noble than the crab or the oyster—more inspiring than the two combined. It shall deal with the newly-found friend, the scallop. (If you want to pronounce it properly, just call it a "scallop" and you'll have it named about right.)

Before we go further into details, we shall pause to offer an apology to the lowly scallop. Considerably more than half a century ago we waded barefooted in the waters of Clearwater Bay. We saw millions of scallop shells, some living, some dead. They aroused in our bosom little interest—neither sorrow for their death nor joy for their living. We were unmoved because we had never been introduced to a scallop. Nobody had ever told us of their sweetness of character nor their gentleness of heart. We had not been told that a scallop was a jewel of first rank. To us they were simply a menace that might out of our foot if trod upon. They often did that for this writer. They often did that for this writer. They often did that for this writer. They often did that for this writer.

Last week we spent four days back at Clearwater, and last week we were made to understand what we had lost during all those fifty long years. We pause to drop a tear of regret as we contemplate our loss.

It was at the home of that same brother-in-law, Albert Nelson, that we met the scallop family last week. Albert and his sons and sons-in-law, alert always to do something better than they have ever done it before, had spent a half day scalloping in the sand banks of Clearwater Bay. They had dugged from the soft sand a tubful and three bucketfuls of scallops. The good wife of Albert Nelson had dressed them in proper garments and set them before us at the dinner hour for our expert criticism.

If you have ever met a scallop swimming in a thick milk stew with a little seasoning of pepper and salt, you will agree with us that there is nothing within the realm of possibility that so charms the appetite. If you have not met a scallop that way, but know how he appeals to the taste when fried in a little meal and a little other condiments, we agree with you that nothing compares with him in that style of dress.

And thus, after more than a half of a century in ignorance, we drove back last week to the place of our birth, and spent four delightful days getting acquainted. We met many old friends whose friendship to us is a delight to renew, but the memory that stands out most vividly is that of the lowly scallop whom all these years we had thought of only to despise.

Whatever of harm have come from that misunderstanding we now realize was harm to ourselves. One of these years shall be devoted to a diligent effort to retrieve that wrong. We are living to learn!

HURRAH FOR HOOVER!

Let nobody be alarmed. We are not turning Hoover. We didn't vote for him for president, and didn't desire any of his friends to do so. We are proud that we didn't, and are ashamed that any of our friends did. But we like Hoover better than we thought we possibly could. We like him because he is the kind of president we suspected he would be—the social equality kind. And while we are not pleased with social equality, we endorse it for a Republican president. It is the thing that more nearly than anything else insures Southern Democracy. Hoover the Republican is a guarantee of the perpetuation of the Democratic party.

Any man makes himself obnoxious when he is too ready to cry out "I told you so!" We do not want to make ourselves needlessly objectionable, but we are not surprised that Mr. Hoover's wife included the color of woman in her recent list of guests at a tea. We are not really blaming him for the incident, because we can understand that the wife of a president could not well afford to draw the color line in her social affairs. We cannot, however, draw ourselves to imagine a Democratic president, elected by the votes of Southern white Democrats, feeling himself impelled to intermingle whites and blacks together in social affairs. It may be possible that Mrs. Hoover knew her guests, and understood that this mixture of the races would not be offensive to those white ladies whom she invited jointly with the negro congressman's wife. If she knew, we are perfectly well satisfied. If she didn't know, then we are likewise perfectly well satisfied. We are glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Hoover accept every opportunity to remind those Southerners who followed him into Republican ranks, that they must accept the consequences of their following.

Any Southerner who chooses to go Republican as a matter of principle, it is his business to do so if he doesn't care what sort of principle it is he is following.

ZETTEROWER-JONES
Of cordial interest to their many friends was the marriage, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, of Miss Janie Lou Zetterower, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Zetterower, to Bill Jones, which occurred at the beautiful country home of the bride's parents east of Statesboro. Rev. Fulmer, pastor of the Elmer Baptist church, performed the impressive double ring ceremony while Mrs. J. G. Moore played "To a Wild Rose." Lohengrin's was the wedding march used. Mrs. C. B. Mathews sang "Because." Green and white were the colors used effectively in the decorations. An arch of white interwoven with shasta daisies and southern smilax was used against a background of feathery fern, forming a pretty setting for the wedding scene. Floor baskets were also filled with these flowers and placed at intervals, lending their charm to the occasion. Little Miss Marguerite Mathews as flower girl wore a dainty frock of pink tulle. She carried a basket of rose petals, strewn them in the path of the bride. Miss Zetterower, the ring bearer, wore a white satin suit and carried the ring on a satin pillow. Miss Era Zetterower was maid of honor for her sister. She wore pink tulle with a picture hat and other accessories to match and carried an armful of Killarney roses and valley lilies. The bride was lovely in an ensemble suit of apricot georgette embroidered in wool, her accessories matching. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies. She was given in marriage by her father, Jimmie Olliv, was the groom's best man. The mother of the bride wore a lavender tail crepe. Her corsage was of orchids. The mother of the groom was gowned in flowered chiffon. She also wore a corsage of orchids. Immediately after the ceremony there was an informal reception during which an ice course was served by Misses Myrtle Zetterower, Vivian Mathews, Arline Bland, Nona Zetterower, and Mrs. Lester Martin. The punch bowl was presided over by Miss Evelyn Mathews. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left during the evening for Asheville and other points in North Carolina.

W. M. M. U. MEETING
The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held at the church, June 17th, with thirty-seven members present. Mrs. Orville McLenroe, president, presided in an able manner.

Opening song, "I Love to Tell the Story." Prayer by Mrs. L. Zetterower. Minutes were read and approved. The society voted to use Mrs. Una Roberts Lawrence's book, "Pioneer Women," for mission study. Mrs. E. A. Smith's class won the attendance banner for the month of June. The W. M. U. hymn, "From All the Dark Places," was sung by the society, after which the following program was rendered: Devotional—Mrs. Leffler DeLoach. Prayer—Miss Annie Thompson.

Vocal solo, "Come Into My Heart," was sweetly sung by Mrs. Charlie Mathews. An interesting feature about this song was that the chorus was sung at the beginning of each session of the B. W. M. U. convention held at Forsyth June 11, 12, 13. Mrs. Orville McLenroe, president of the Statesboro B. W. M. U., presided. Mrs. W. L. Jones, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. E. A. Smith, association superintendent; Mrs. H. B. Strange, association stewardship chairman; and Mrs. S. C. Groover, mission study chairman, attended the convention. Mrs. Strange and Mrs. Smith gave beautiful thoughts that they had gleaned from the convention.

Closing prayer—Mrs. O. L. McLenroe.

running on overtime basis every day with earnings 50 per cent over last year. Kansas farmers have erected 10,000,000 bushels of wheat storage capacity on farms since last year crop, placing them in best market position in history.

"Bumper crop is assured, but huge surplus can be handled by increased wealth of both farmers and south-west as whole. Retail trade is improved by Ozark weather this spring. Big crops in Ozark—fruit and vegetable country. The oil industry is improving rapidly and will be big factor in prosperity."

An important observer in Iowa declares that "Iowa is not affected by the wheat situation, as less than one per cent of total farm income comes from this source while 80 per cent is derived from the livestock industry."

"Hogs are selling at $10.50 to $11.50, or $1.05 higher than a year ago with outlook excellent," he wired. "Cattle are selling from $13 to $14.50, or about 75 cents higher than a year ago. Latest bank abstract shows an increase of over $5,000,000 in bank deposits between December 31 last and March 27 in Des Moines alone."

The president of one of the largest banking enterprises in Chicago, which has extensive dealings with important interests in the wheat and grain belts, wired:

"Low prices on wheat will undoubtedly affect purchasing power of certain states, but on the other hand prices of livestock are higher and their farm products are not seriously low. Otherwise, business conditions generally are excellent with good prospects unless disturbed by security market conditions."

"Someone asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I found it to be just the medicine I needed. When I feel a spell coming on, I begin by taking a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need."

Central Asks Help In Protecting Cows

The economic waste involved through the needless slaughter of livestock allowed to graze or wander upon railroad rights-of-way is discussed by President A. E. Clift of the Central of Georgia in a statement published today.

"The Central of Georgia has for the past several years noted with satisfaction the development of the live stock industry in the territory it serves. Through the activities of its agricultural department, as well as in other ways, it has co-operated in that development. Feeling a genuine interest in agricultural progress, the management of this railroad has noted with concern the economic waste involved in the needless slaughter of live stock allowed to graze or wander upon railroad rights-of-way."

"Despite every possible precaution on the part of its officers and employees, especially its train crews, 1,700 animals, or approximately 90 carloads of live stock (more than a solid train load), were killed last year on the Central of Georgia's tracks. This is an average of nearly one animal for each mile of track. Males and horses killed totaled 142; cows, calves, bulls, steers, heifers and yearlings 931; hogs, sows, pigs and dogs 549; while 39 goats and 44 dogs were killed."

Mr. Clift points out that the live stock claims are in two senses an economic waste. Not only is the money paid out by the railroad diverted from useful investment for improving equipment or maintaining service, but the stock owner seldom uses the money received to buy animals to replace those killed. The total live stock of the southeast is already considerable below that which this section could raise.

Mr. Clift recommends that live stock be tethered or otherwise protected when turned out to graze in unfenced areas. He points out the danger to human life from allowing animals to roam at large. He cites the comparatively recent wreck of a passenger train in Florida, due to the locomotive striking a cow grazing on the railroad track, a wreck in which one person was killed. This danger, he says, would not be eliminated by fencing the railroad right-of-way since these roaming animals constitute an even greater menace on public highways where numerous automobile wrecks are caused by striking the animal or attempting to avoid it.

Wife of De Priest Is White House Guest

(Washington Daily News)

Washington society is enjoying a little excitement over the fact that Mrs. Hoover yesterday afternoon entertained Mrs. Oscar De Priest at tea. Mrs. De Priest is wife of the colored congressman from Illinois. Society is still mindful of the storm of discussion that resulted from President Roosevelt's action in appointing Booker T. Washington, the great colored educator, at dinner. That similar teatime tempter will follow Mrs. Hoover's course is regarded as altogether unlikely, but the incident appears to have provided a subject of absorbing conversation today.

Middle Life Troubles

"About twenty years ago I was very 'bad,'" says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and sometimes I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time."

"I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some time, and I felt much better. I was able to get on with my life, and I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

CAN'T TALK TO WIFE, TOO CROSS AND NERVOUS

"Even my husband couldn't talk to me, I was so cross and nervous. Vinol has made me a different and happy woman."—Mrs. N. McCall.

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very first bottle makes you sleep better and have a big appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc. give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. W. H. ELLIS CO. 2

CHIEF OF BUREAU DISCUSSES ROADS

LATEST METHODS OF ROAD FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION TREATED IN NEW BOOKLET.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—A timely publication involving an extensive study on the subject, "Highway Construction, Administration and Finance" is announced by the Highway Education Board.

It deals with the planning of a national highway system, with the various types of road suitable for differing traffic conditions, and with methods of financing such highway building. The studies are by E. W. James, chief of the division of design, United States Bureau of Public Roads, and now on leave in Colombia assisting that South American government in organizing a road-building program. The booklet is printed in Spanish, Portuguese and English.

"Four roads," says Thomas M. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, in an introduction, "cost more to do adequately serviceable roads. Roads built with honest administration and skilled technique have an earning capacity which is sufficient to pay for the cost of the highway and to provide a profit to the individual user. The very fact of relatively low taxes has encouraged the enormous use of the roads by so large a number of the people. This accounts for the high income from the roads in actual financial returns. It proves the value of good highways."

Recognizing that the financial problem involved in the highway program is in all countries "the fundamental and difficult one to solve," the book points out that, in order to keep expenditures to a minimum, three things must be attempted:

1. To select the right roads to be improved; 2. To determine the correct types to build at any time; and
3. To build progressively, but so that all work done may be salvaged in future work.

The best method he asserts, is "deliberately to plan a national highway system." It matters not, he adds, that pioneer roads and trails have developed, but that some of the roads already have been improved, that cities have grown and the rural districts have been put under cultivation. Such study, he says, may disclose errors of the past and may lead to a change in location and priority of construction for many miles of highways, but it does it save money.

"Studies of highway systems made in the United States during the past three years," says Mr. James, "clearly demonstrate the value of such work even at a late date. But obviously the earlier in the highway history of a country such studies are made the greater good will flow from them."

The general character and condition of economic development, as revealed in data based on population, agricultural production in tonnage for general crops and in cost of special crops, such as cotton, and the delivery directly for consumption, and manufactured products by cost, must be surveyed, it is stated, in approaching a national or state highway plan. Other factors which must be considered include topography; existing conditions of the roads and the probable adequate mileage of roads in the system as a whole and in the several political or economic subdivisions thereof.

Emphasis is laid in the Highway Education Board's report on the importance of the study of the method of road building which, it is asserted, is "the only way possible to give service within any reasonable period to a state or nation which yet has most of its pioneer roads to improve."

"Roads should be built only to the extent and of such types as will pay for themselves." Every piece of construction, it is asserted, should be planned with an eye to the future and to the possibility, indeed to the probability, that a betterment of type will be required. Any highway expenditure to be justified must be earned by the road in the form of cheaper transportation, says the report, which argues that highways are fundamental requirements in a healthy, progressive, prosperous and ambitious nation.

Prominent Divine To Speak at Normal School

Dr. John E. White, pastor of the First Baptist church of Savannah and former president of Anderson College, Anderson, South Carolina, will deliver a series of lectures at the Georgia Normal School beginning Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Dr. White will begin his series of lectures with a talk on "How They Got There." This will be followed on Thursday evening at 7 p. m. on "Sidney Lanier." Dr. White is one of the foremost authorities on Lanier and has spent a great deal of time in this study. Friday morning at 10:30 Dr. White will speak on the subject "Examination," and Friday evening at 8 p. m. his subject will be "Jesus and Peter Pan."

Christianized Jew at Methodist Church

B. E. Kertchman, Christianized Russian Jew, will preach at the Methodist church here Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock. It is announced by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Parker.

Mr. Kertchman will speak on "Jesus and the Jew." He has spoken of his salvation before hundreds of people in many states and is said to be a very interesting speaker.

Bright Leaf Tobacco To Sell for Best Prices

Valdosta, Ga., June 24.—Bright Leaf tobacco growers in South Georgia are due to get the best average price per pound this season in the history of the industry in Georgia, according to B. B. Saunders, tobacco warehouseman of this city.

Mr. Saunders, in company with a number of experienced tobacco men, has just completed a survey of the tobacco belt, and the means that they found through the fields, and not just along the ends of the rows. The crop is in better general condition than previous seasons and gives promise of having the required weight along with the fine quality so much desired by the manufacturers.

The crop throughout the lower portion of the state is virtually made up of ready and a large portion of it already cured and housed. Careful examination shows that the leaves have the fine texture and with the acreage showing a slight reduction and some loss of weight, it is believed that the added weight will bring the tonnage in the state up to the average of past seasons. The improved quality will insure a higher average price, making the whole crop of greater value than that of other years.

Board of Health Issues a Warning

Atlanta, Ga., June 25.—With the swimming and thunderstorm season in full swing, Butler Toombs, director of vital statistics of the State Board of Health, calls attention to a few simple precautions, which, if observed, will greatly reduce the 150 deaths that occurred last year from drowning and lightning.

Georgia registered a total of 115 deaths last year from accidental drowning alone. This does not include drownings with suicidal intent. "Most of these deaths," Mr. Toombs said, "are easily avoidable by the observance of a few sane and simple precautions."

"Parents should not permit their small children to go swimming in open bodies of water unless there is a competent lifeguard on duty at the most innocent seeming pool. Most of the drownings last year were due to failure to observe these precautions."

"Lightning struck and killed 38 persons in 1928. Most of these deaths by lightning striking trees for shelter during a thunderstorm. If you are caught out in the open and the thunder comes up, stay in the open if there is no house available. Don't get under a tree. To do so simply invites disaster."

"If you go in a house or are in an already, take good care to stay out of drafts until the thunder storm is over. These two things will reduce the hazard to a minimum."

Penditure to be justified must be earned by the road in the form of cheaper transportation, says the report, which argues that highways are fundamental requirements in a healthy, progressive, prosperous and ambitious nation.

WILL MAKE WAR ON CANCER SCOURGE

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO JOIN SCIENCE IN QUEST OF A POSSIBLE CURE.

Washington, June 22.—Congress has joined science in quest of a cure for cancer.

Medical genius from all the land will come to Washington to advise the government how to wage war against this vast resources behind the crusade against this dread spectre of death.

The senate commerce committee met today to work out plans for a summer of research. The committee has been charged with conducting an inquiry to ascertain whether a cure for the baffling scourge can be developed.

Senator Harris, Democrat, of Georgia, author of the resolution launching the inquiry, declared he hopes the committee will have legislation designed to bring government aid into play in the drive against cancer ready by the re-opening of congress after the summer recess.

Beginning this very week, officials of the public health service, the National Academy of Science, experts from the Rockefeller Foundation and famous students of the disease, will be invited to give their advice.

A small room in the capitol daily will be the destination of renowned figures in the medical world; men more used to the white of antiseptic clothing than multi-colored, and the manipulation of steel through the human fiber than taking.

They will lay before the committee the best known methods of cancer prevention, and suggest how they think the government should put its money to work in effort to eradicate cancer. Those who are best known and have little time to spare from their work will be asked to drop it for a time and pool their ideas with those of other prominent authorities on the disease.

"We want to get a comprehensive expert view of the whole situation," Harris said, "and then we must get straight to work and do something about it."

Harris presented an amazing group of figures to the senate when he appeared for the first time to eradicate cancer. He said that one out of every 100 men over 20 years of age die of cancer, and that a tenth of all men over 20 years of age die of the terrible ill.

"This disease is more prevalent than tuberculosis," he asserted, adding, "and no known cure exists. It has baffled scientists, and we want to find out more about it, so as to learn to cure it. This committee is trying to find out how it can make the government's money count in the fight."

The government spends enormous sums of money every year on hog cholera and other diseases. Cancer is the greatest enemy to the physical condition of the human race. We should be generous as can be in extending funds to operate in the unselfish battle."

"Lefty" Wilson Is Back From Cleveland

"Lefty" Wilson, pitching phenomenon from the Georgia Normal College of the past season, is back for a few days after a recent try-out with the Cleveland baseball team. Though he was given an offer by that team after his try-out, he declined it for a more satisfactory offer nearer home, with the Chattanooga South Atlantics. He will leave on July 6 for Chattanooga to begin active work for Chattanooga for the remainder of the season. Whether he will remain permanently with that team depends upon his work during the remaining four months of the season. "Lefty" established a reputation for himself last summer while pitching with the Georgia Normal team. He pitched three no-hit games in succession. It was this work that attracted the attention of the Cleveland big league. It was decided by the management of the Cleveland, however, that he was not quite heavy enough at the present time to hold the place they wanted him for. At present he is being trained by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Register, at Metter.

Growing Tomatoes Under Grass Shade

Our contemporary from Hinesville, the Liberty County Herald, grew enthusiastic in a recent issue reporting the production of some fine specimens of tomatoes by a prominent citizen, Judge Brewton. The judge presented the editor with a specimen that weighed a pound, and explained that it had been grown under a paper and thus protected from the sun. And that was a fine tomato, we admit. But our editor friend's mouth would water if he could peep into the window of the Times office at this moment and glimpse a pair of five to seven pounds and are as pretty as they are big. The largest one of the lot weighs 13.4 pounds and the smallest 1.2. They were grown by W. S. Prentiss and not under a paper cover, but were shaded by grass. Mr. Prentiss has found that he can successfully grow tomatoes and hay at the same time on the same land. He planted the tomatoes and the hay found its way voluntarily and made the natural shade for the tomatoes. This is a new thought in agriculture and it may be a comfort to others who are unable to keep the grass down in their gardens.

Savannah Merchants Endorse Credit Bureau

(Savannah News)

The Retail Merchants Association of Savannah has decided to co-operate with and to endorse the credit bureau of information in accordance with the plan of the Merchants Mercantile Agency, Inc., of Washington, D. C., it was learned yesterday.

The records will be kept at the office of the association where information on the credit standing of all customers in the Savannah trading zone will be kept.

The decision to co-operate with the bureau was made at a recent meeting of a committee of the association held in the Board of Trade building. The co-operation of all retail and wholesale businesses will be sought in order to enhance the usefulness of the undertaking.

It was pointed out that the bureau will benefit the buying public as well as the merchants in that the obtaining of credit by customers who pay their accounts will be facilitated. As the same time it was indicated, the credit bureau will help to guard against those who make a practice of running bad accounts.

Prolific Cotton From Anderson Farm

Two stalks of prolific cotton laden with fruit were presented to the Times office Tuesday by D. C. Anderson, well known farmer of the Sink-hole district. The most luxurious of the stalks carried forty-two bolls, blooms and squares, a number of the bolls being practically grown. They were taken from a twenty-seven acre field which averaged almost equal to the two specimens, Mr. Anderson said. In addition to the cotton samples, Mr. Anderson brought an 8.34 pound cabbage for the editor's table. This, he said, was not a novelty, but was an average sample of his cabbage crop.

Baptist Pastorate Not Yet Filled

The recent call to the pastorate of the Statesboro Baptist church extended to Rev. C. W. Howard, of Hartwell, having been declined, there was in progress other steps to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. W. T. Granade. A lay committee recently delegated to submit a nomination, recommended Rev. Mr. Howard and the church voted unanimously to accept him. His engagements were such, however, that he was unable to accept the call. At the church conference last Sunday morning the board of deacons were instructed to take the matter in hand to procure a pastor. In the meantime Rev. J. A. Duren, an instructor in the New Orleans College, is serving as acting pastor, and is rendering admirable service. He will return to New Orleans as soon as a permanent pastor is procured.
